AN HISTORICAL SKETCH
CHARLESTOWN,
IN THE
COUNTY OF MIDDLESEX, AND
COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
READ TO AN ASSEMBLY OF CITIZENS
AT THE OPENING OF
WASHINGTON HALL,
NOV. 16, 1813.

No. 5, Court-Street,
1814.

THE following ADDRESS was prepared, with notes, for the MASSACHUSETTS HISTORICAL SOCIETY; and this pamphlet, copied from the second volume of the second series of its collections, page 163, is respectfully inscribed to the CITIZENS OF CHARLESTOWN, in testimony of the author's gratitude for THEIR various and repeated tokens of confidence and esteem.

May 9, 1814.

SKETCH OF CHARLESTOWN.

THERE are periods in society, as well as in the life of an individual, when it is peculiarly proper, by a review of past occurrences, to trace the progress of improvement, and excite such feelings, as may lead to future usefulness. On this occasion, when we are convened in such auspicious circumstances, and may rationally estimate the advantages of a laudable exertion for ourselves and our posterity, I deem it appropriate to attempt a general sketch of our municipal history, and offer such observations as comport with the design of our present meeting.

Among the intrepid advocates of civil and religious freedom, who encountered the dangers of the ocean, and the greater danger of the wilderness, were nine or ten persons,* who, in the summer of 1628, travelled by land from Naumkeak, now called Salem, and, under the authority of governour Endicot, constituted this place† an English settlement. They here found an "English thatched house pallisadoed," and occupied by Thomas Walford, a smith by trade, of whom no particular account is preserved. By the Indians, who were very numerous, it was called Mishawum, and their chief was John Sagamore, by whose consent these enterprising travellers settled themselves in the neighbourhood of TOWN HILL, * Among whom Ralph Sprague with his brethren Richard and William are particularly named in the record.

† Charlestown, lying in lat.  $42^{\circ}$ ,  $23'$  N. and long.  $4''$  E. from the meridian of Cambridge, is of an irregular form, about 7  $\frac{1}{4}$  miles long, and 1 mile in average width. Its bounds (formerly very extensive) were established by the General Court, March 3, 1635. It now lies S. W. on Cambridge, N. W. on Woburn, N. W. and N. E. on Mistick river, and S. E. on Charles river, from which its name is derived. The natural divisions are distinguished by within and without the neck. The first includes a peninsula, formed by Mistick and Charles rivers, somewhat of an oval form, about a mile and a quarter long, and half a mile wide, upon which the town is built, and which is joined to the main by a narrow isthmus. The second division contains a great quantity of fertile land, rendered valuable from its vicinity to an excellent market.

which was fortified* the year following, against invasions, with which the English were threatened.

On the margin of that memorable eminence we are now assembled; it has been repeatedly a citadel of defence, a resort for the instruction of youth, and devoted to the service of the Almighty. Here our fathers resisted the threatenings of untutored savages; here they taught the rudiments of science, and projected measures for their future happiness; here, if tradition is correct, they worshipped beneath the shade of a venerable oak, and perhaps anticipated a period like the present, when their descendants, on the same spot, in a spacious temple,† should pay their weekly adorations to the GREAT CREATOR; and in a convenient edifice,‡ dedicated to patriotism and philanthropy, should gratefully respect their memories, and cultivate the principles they so assiduously supported.

In 1629,§ Gov. John Winthrop arrived here with fifteen hundred persons, and resided several months,|| during which time a church was gathered, which was the second in Massachusetts. The governour and other publick officers were accommodated with a building called the great house,¶ on the westerly side of our present market square, and near the late residence of the Hon. James Russell** deceased. The remainder resided

* This was "performed by all hands, viz. of men, women and children, who labour in digging and building till the work is done."

‡ Washington Hall.

§ The arrival of Gov. Winthrop is stated by himself, Dudley, Mather, Holmes, and others, to have been in 1630; but the original town record, vol. I. page 3, makes it in 1629, and the figures in the margin and text are perfectly plain.

|| "The first Court of Assistants was held in Charlestown harbour, on board the Arabella, Aug. 23, 1630, present, Gov. Winthrop, Dep. Gov. Dudley, Sir R. Saltonstall, Messrs Ludlow, Rossiter, Nowell, Sharp, Pynchon, and Bradstreet." The Hon. Simon Bradstreet was governour in 1679, and his descendants have continued here with reputation to the present period.

¶ Built in 1628, on account of the patentees, by the Hon. Thomas Graves, who planned the fort on town hill, and was appointed to "moodle and lay out the form of the town with streets," and to "measure out to each inhabitant a two acre lot to plant upon." He is spoken of as "a person skilful in mines of iron, lead, copper, mineral salt, and allum, fortification of all sorts, surveying, &c." He was an Assistant with Gov. Endicot, and appointed a sea commander by Oliver Cromwell. His descendants were citizens of repute, and sustained important offices.

** The ancestors of Mr. Russell were among the first settlers of the town, and enjoyed the most important legislative, judicial and municipal offices. He died in 1798, aged 83, and was a descendant of the fourth generation, who successively, in cottages, booths and tents. These persons, having experienced great sufferings from a variety of causes,* became so unhealthy, that many died soon after their arrival, in consequence of which, the governour, with many of the survivors, removed over Charles river to Shawmut, which they called Boston, and others engaged in the settlement of Watertown, Cambridge, and other places, leaving but seventeen male inhabitants.

In 1632,† the small pox was very destructive to the natives, which rendered the lives of the emigrants more comfortable, and hastened an increase of their countrymen, who, early in 1633, amounted to fifty eight, most of whom had families. At this period a church was again gathered; the house‡ which Gov. Winthrop had occupied was purchased as a place of worship, and used as such till 1716, when a meeting house§ was erected on the northerly part of the square.

In 1634, the town was organized, delegates were elected to the General Court, selectmen|| and other officers were appointed; and from that time it gradually popuamong other places of great trust, sustained the office of assistant or counsellor in the province. His son, the Hon. Thomas Russell of Boston, an eminent merchant and philanthropist, was a native of Charlestown, and was also a representative of Boston, and a counsellor. He died April 8, 1796, aged 56. An eulogy on his character was delivered May 4 following, by John Warren, M. D. and is published.

* It is said that but one spring of fresh water was then to be found, and that upon the beach, near the present scite of the state prison. However this may be, no town is now better supplied.

† The winter of this year was severe, and there was a scarcity of provisions. In the spring a vessel arrived from Virginia with Indian corn, which sold for ten shillings a bushel.

John Sales was the first inhabitant convicted of theft. He was publickly punished, and "all he had was taken to make restitution."

‡ "April, 1633. Agreed and concluded by the inhabitants that the sum of ten pounds be collected of the said inhabitants, and be paid to John Winthrop, Esq. governour, and the rest of the gentlemen interested in the great house built in anno 1628, by Mr. Graves and the company's servants; which is for the purchase of the said house, now the publick meeting house in this town; all which was accordingly done." This is a specimen of the early records of the town, which are very minute and entertaining to those who acquire a knowledge of the writing of that period. The town clerk was Mr. Increase Nowell, who was afterward secretary to the colony.

§ This building was 72 feet long, 52 feet wide, and 34 feet (three stories) high, with a steeple. The cost stated at 2000 pounds.

|| The number of "deputys at court" this year was three; and of selectmen, eleven. The names of persons admitted inhabitants were recorded, and on the 8th of March, 1635, it was agreed, that "whosoever is warned to appear at any town meeting forty eight hours before the time appointed, and shall fail, unless the occasion be extraordinary, shall forfeit and pay eighteen pence."

lated and improved, until a large part of it fell a sacrifice to the ravages of war.

On the state of the town during an hundred and forty seven years to this event, it may be remarked, that the inhabitants were industrious, sober, and cultivated good principles. Publick worship was regularly attended, schools were as well regulated as the state of society would allow. Navigation, which consisted principally in the whale fishery and West India trade, though not extensive, was prosperous; the mechanick arts were cherished, and advantages were derived from ship-building, the manufactory of rum, loaf sugar, candles, leather and potashes.

Judicial courts were early instituted, and continued until the revolutionary war. A dry dock was made in 1678, above the present draw bridge, near the navy yard, and was the only one in the country. The small pox* and other contagious diseases have generally prevailed when they did in the metropolis; and there have been several fires† distressing to individuals, the most remarkable of which was in 1749, occasioned by the villany of three negro servants, who were convicted of poisoning their master,‡ and two of whom were executed, the other becoming evidence for the king.

A ferry,§ communicating with Boston, which was reputed to be the best regulated of any in the province,

* The last spread of the small pox was in the autumn of 1792. The number inoculated was 1334 (879 inhabitants and 455 strangers) of which 9 died. 12 had the disease the natural way, of whom 5 died. Vaccination is now generally practised.

† There is an account of several fires in Charlestown, during the eighteenth century, in the Collections of the Massachusetts Historical Society, Vol. I, second series, p. 81, &c.

‡ Capt. John Codman, a respectable citizen, and an active military officer, destroyed by arsenick. The servants were named Mark, Phillis, and Phœbe, who were favourite domesticks. The man procured the drug, and the females administered it. Mark was hanged, and Phillis was burnt at the usual place of execution in Cambridge. Phœbe, who was said to have been the most culpable, became evidence against the others. She was transported to the West Indies. The body of Mark was suspended in irons on the northerly side of Cambridge road, about a quarter of a mile above our peninsula, and the gibbet remained till a short time before the revolution. Are there any other instances of burning or gibbeting in the annals of New-England?

§ This ferry was first rented to Edward Converse for forty shillings a year. In 1640, it was given to Harvard College, and afforded a handsome revenue. The bridge at the same place now pays it two hundred pounds a year.

was established in 1631; and one was opened without the peninsula, to communicate with Malden, in 1640. There is now at this place a convenient bridge,* erected in 1787.

On the retreat of the English troops from Concord, April 19, 1775, a great part of the inhabitants† of this town abandoned it, and they were dispersed in various parts of the country. On the 17th of June of that year, the Americans began a breastwork on Breed's Hill, which was discovered at Boston the following morning, when a severe cannonade commenced. In the afternoon an attack was made by the British, who, after a severe conflict, obtained a dear bought victory.‡ During the battle the town was set on fire, when the meeting house, a court house, prison, county house, two school houses, and a work house,§ with upwards of three hundred and eighty dwellings and other buildings, valued on oath at five hundred and twenty three thousand dollars, were totally consumed, and two thousand persons, being the whole population of the peninsula, were reduced from affluence and mediocrity to poverty and exile.

Connected with these solemn transactions was the death of the Hon. Joseph Warren,|| a distinguished states-

* Malden Bridge was finished in six months, and cost 5300 pounds. The property is vested in 120 shares. It is 2400 feet long, including the abutments, 32 feet wide, has a convenient draw, and eight lamps. The Mistick river, over which it passes, is, at high water, 23 feet deep. The property is perpetual, but the toll is subject to alteration at the expiration of fifty years. The president is the Hon. John Phillips of Boston.

† James Miller, aged 66, and Edward Barber, aged 14, were killed on that day.

‡ The Americans engaged in this enterprize were commanded by Col. Prescott, and stated at 1500. The British (being the flower of the army) were commanded by Gen. Howe, and stated at 3000. The loss of the former, in killed and wounded, was 450, and of the latter 1050. For an accurate account of the transaction, see Marshall's Life of Washington, vol. II p. 226.

§ The site of the meeting house was on the northerly part of the square, in front of the house now owned by the Hon. Matthew Bridge. The court house was on the easterly part of the square, in front of the estate belonging to the heirs of the Hon. Thomas Russell, deceased. One of the school houses, which was built for a town house, and on which were the town bell and clock, was on the spot where the congregational meeting house now stands; the other, with the prison, county house, and work house, were on the margin of town hill, in the vicinity of the present school house.

|| The day previous to the battle, Warren, at the age of 35, was appointed a major general, and acted on this occasion as a volunteer. He was buried on the field; but was afterward removed, and publickly interred at Boston, where an oration was pronounced, April 8, 1776, by Perez Morton, Esq. It was published.

man, an eloquent orator, and an intrepid warrior, who fell an early sacrifice on the altar of freedom.

During the siege of Boston, that division of our territory, which we distinguished by without the neck, and where there are several vestiges of fortifications,* was principally occupied by the American troops, and the inhabitants were consequently subject to considerable inconveniences, which it has been supposed were fully compensated in 1778, by a temporary residence of the British and Hessian army, captured at Saratoga; whose necessaries and conveniences were purchased with specie, whilst the circulating medium of the country was a depreciated paper currency. This section was exclusively agricultural, with the exception of the alewife fishery at proper seasons, until within a few years, since which the manufactory of bricks has afforded employment for many of the citizens. Its growth has been gradual; it has furnished a full proportion of the town officers, and has derived peculiar advantages† from its connexion with the peninsula.

On the removal of the seat of war in 1776 many of the former inhabitants returned from their exile,‡ and commenced according to their respective means, to repair their waste places. A few of the number were able to erect convenient dwellings, whilst others, like their hardy predecessors, were only covered with temporary shelters. Those, who can call to mind the occurrences of that interesting era, must recollect their mingled emotions of despondency and pleasure. The only objects that retained their former appearance were desolated streets, and the grave yard of their ancestors and relatives; but by a consideration of mutual sufferings, it was the endeavour of every individual to meliorate the condition of his neighbour; to cultivate harmony, and unite for the benefit of the whole. A block-house, erected by the enemy, at the place* originally fortified against the natives, was appropriated to the discharge of our civil duties, to the publick services of religion, and to the education of youth. Here, uninfluenced by political dissensions, we gave our first suffrages† for a chief magistrate and legislators, under the constitution of this Commonwealth; when, in the true spirit of republicanism, we exulted in the commencement of a government, achieved by our ablest statesmen, and calculated to promote our own happiness with that of our posterity.

* There are several hills in this town, famed in the American annals, the most of which command extensive prospects. On the peninsula are Bunker's and Breed's on the N. E. side; and on the S. W. are Town hill (which has been much reduced) and a small hill used as a burying ground. Without the neck are Prospect, Winter, Plowed and Cobble hills (on this is the seat of the late Joseph Barrell, Esq.) with three others of less note, called Quarry, Reed's and Walnut hills.

† Particularly in schools, and the high ways.

‡ Mr. Timothy Thompson, jun. was the first person born on the peninsula, after the town was opened; and Susanna Hooper (now Mrs. Haven) was the first female.

At the expiration of nine years to 1785,‡ the buildings on the peninsula were one hundred and fifty one, and the population was five hundred and fifty. The buildings without the neck, were one hundred and twenty eight, and the population four hundred and forty nine, making but a small difference at that time, in the geographical divisions of the town. The present number of inhabitants, including temporary residents§ for employment, is nearly six thousand, of which about five-sixths reside on the peninsula, where the natural population has been unusual|| from a constant accession of young families. The buildings have increased in twenty eight years from one hundred and fifty one, many of which were temporary and are abolished, to the present state of respectability and convenience, which far exceeds our former situation.

The principal streets were widened, straightened and improved, and the market square was regularly laid out, * Town Hill.

† Sept. 4, 1780. The votes for Governour were 48. Lieut. Governour 39. Senators 38. In 1813, the votes for Governour were 821. Lieut. Governour 821. Senators 819.

‡ The buildings and inhabitants were numbered at this time, when a concise account of the town, was published in part, in the Boston Magazine; and afterward entire in No. 1 and 2 of the American Recorder (Dec. 9th and 13th, 1805) a newspaper printed at Charlestown, but which was not long continued. That publication was prepared by the author of this sketch, and embraces some of the facts to that period, which are here stated.

§ Estimated at 900, including women and children.

|| It appears by extracts from the new year's sermons of the Rev. Dr. Morse, that in the last 25 years, the number of births on the peninsula, was 3225, and of deaths 1510.

soon after the opening of the town in 1776; to facilitate which, a lottery was granted, and the state taxes were remitted for seven years. These with a brief, for assistance to erect a meeting house, and a partial support to the aged and infirm, who were reduced by the conflagration, were the only instances of legislative aid for the sufferings of the inhabitants in the cause of their country; though a seasonable application on this subject, was respectfully submitted to the continental Congress, by a committee* appointed for that purpose.

Our public buildings are four meeting houses, five school houses, in one of which is a town hall; a powder magazine belonging to the Commonwealth, and an alms house.† The present number of dwellings,‡ stores, * Hon. Nathaniel Gorham and Thomas Russell.

By the report of a committee of Congress dated Philadelphia, May 16, 1777, they sympathize with the sufferers, and consider the estimate of damages to be very moderate; but they "apprehend that if Congress were to pay that valuation, claims much more extensive, and of a similar nature, will be made by other sufferers, and subject the United States to the payment of sums of money which, in the present exigencies of their affairs, cannot be spared from the support of the present just and necessary war."

In 1784 Mr. Gorham, at the request of the sufferers went to England to solicit aid; but this mission (which was disapproved of by many) like that to Philadelphia, was unsuccessful.

† A Congregational meeting house, 72 feet long, 52 feet wide and 27 feet high to the eaves, erected in 1783, and widened to 84 feet in 1804. It has a large tower, and elegant steeple. A bell of 1300 weight (which has been twice broken and replaced) was presented by Messrs. Champ. on, Dickason and Burgis, merchants of London, and an elegant clock, by the Hon. Thomas Russell. These are the property of the town. A convenient chapel, 26 feet long, 21 wide and 10 1-2 high, for parish and church meetings, lectures, &c was built by subscriptions in the church in 1809, on part of a valuable parsonage lot, bequeathed in 1703, by Mr. Richard Sprague.

A Baptist meeting house, 65 feet long, 50 feet wide and 29 feet high, erected in 1800. It is handsome and convenient, with a cupola and bell, but was relinquished by the society for whom it was built, and now belongs to an individual.

A Baptist meeting house, 65 feet long, 50 feet wide, and 14 feet high, built with brick in 1810. It is a well finished, respectable edifice, and belongs to the society who occupied the building above described.

A Universal meeting house, 62 feet long, 62 feet wide, and 34 feet high, built with brick in 1810. It is commodious, and handsomely finished.

Two of the school houses are built with brick, two stories high, and are on the peninsula; the three others are of wood, and properly located without the neck.

There is a building erected by Major Timothy Walker for an Academy, which is kept by Oliver Brown, A. M.

The Magazine on Quarry hill, is a strong stone edifice of a conic figure, and has been erected many years.

The Alms house is a wooden building, two stories high, with proper accommodations for the keeper, and for the persons who are subjects of such an institution. The keeper is Mr. Gideon Foster.

‡ Of these, some are elegant, many are spacious, and others are convenient. A law has lately passed, requiring a certain proportion of every new building to be of brick.

barns, &c. is eight hundred and fifty, of which six hundred and seventy are on the peninsula.

In 1812 an application was made to the legislature, for the reestablishment of Judicial Courts, which was probably defeated, by an influence, that has recently decided on the erection of a court house and jail at Lechmere's Point in Cambridge; an establishment which is considered injurious to us, but which we are told will be compensated by an intended spacious causeway, to connect us with that territory.

In 1803 an avenue was opened at the easterly part of the town, in nearly a direct line from Salem, by means of a turnpike road, and the erection of Chelsea Bridge.*

The Congregational church, established in 1633, has continued to the present time; a Baptist church was founded in 1801; a Universal church in 1811, and there are other religious societies, by which we enjoy the privilege of attending publick worship according to our various opinions; and it is honourable to the different sects, that there is no apparent discord on this important subject.†

* This Bridge was built across Mistick river in 1803, about a mile below Malden bridge. It is longer, but of the same width, has two draws, and is accommodated with lamps. It cost 53000 dollars, which is held in 2400 shares, half of which are the property of the Malden Bridge Corporation. It reverts to the Commonwealth in 70 years. The President is Hon. Nathan Dane of Beverly.

† The congregational ministers are as follows.

Rev. John Wilson, settled in Aug. 1630, and removed with his church to Boston the Nov. following. He died in 1677, aged 78.

Rev. Mr. James settled 1632. He went to Virginia in 1646.

Rev. John Harvard, officiated a short time, and died in 1638. Age unknown.

Rev. Thomas Allen, settled in 1638, went to England in 1651, and died in 1673. Aged 65.

Rev. Zechariah Symmes, settled 1652, died 1671. Aged 71.

The deacons are David Goodwin, William Arnold, and James Fosdick.

In 1743 a fire society was formed, which is still continued; with the addition of three others, in 1795, 1800 and 1810.* A lodge of Freemasons† was constituted, in 1783, and from its funds was erected, in 1794, a handsome monument‡ on Breed's hill, in memory of a distinguished member,§ and to perpetuate American bravery. Associations like these, for mutual assistance in periods of danger and adversity, have a beneficial influence, and they merit the attention of the benevolent and humane.

In 1786 the opening of Charles River Bridge,|| erected where the ferry was kept, was celebrated, with the Universal ministers—Rev. Abner Kneeland, settled in 1811. His connexion is dissolved, and Rev. Edward Turner from Salem, is to succeed him.

The deacons are Moses Hall and Samuel Thompson.

There are two other Baptist societies, which worship in private buildings. They consider clerical titles and dress improper, deny the necessity of ordination in the usual way, administer the communion every sabbath, and receive no contributions but from church members. The teachers are Mr. Walter Balfour and Oliver Holden, Esq. See Benedict's History of the Baptists, vol. II, p. 407—8.

The first Baptist church in Boston, was gathered in Charlestown in 1665.

who were slain on this memorable spot, June 17, 1775.

"None but they who set a just value upon the blessings of LIBERTY are worthy to enjoy her. In vain we toiled; in vain we fought; we bled in vain; if you, our offspring, want valor to repel the assaults of her invaders."

Charlestown settled 1628.
Burnt 1775. Rebuilt 1776.

The enclosed land was given by the Hon. James Russell.

§ Warren was Grand Master of Free-Masons for North America, at the time of his death.

|| This Bridge, which was thirteen months in building, and considered as the greatest enterprize which had been undertaken in the country, is 1503 feet long, it has 75 piers, each composed of seven posts of oak timber, driven into the bed of the river, and united by cap pieces and girts. The piers are connected with string pieces, which are covered with four inch plank. The bridge is 43 feet wide, with a railed way on each side for foot passengers. It has a draw 30 feet wide, and is accommodated with 40 lamps. The depth of water in the channel on high tides is about 40 feet. The property is vested in 150 shares, each of which was assessed 100 pounds, and it reverts to the State in 70 years from 1786. The Bridges which have been since built in the vicinity, are on the same model. The President is the Hon. George Cabot, of Boston.

greatest splendour and festivity, on the same spot, and at the same time, which eleven years before, was a scene of slaughter and devastation.

A reading society and news-rooms, were opened in 1812, upon a liberal establishment; but by the peculiar state of the times, another was afterward formed, which divided the original subscribers, and caused a different arrangement. That year also gave existence, in this town, to a branch of the "Washington Benevolent Society,"* the objects of which are to support the constitution, preserve the union of the States, reciprocate advice in times of adversity, and relieve the indigent. Its first publick appearance was on the last anniversary of the birth of our POLITICAL FATHER.

Though I omit to detail our various publick celebrations,† (which are common to other places) and the different motives of those who have encouraged them, I cannot forbear to mention that this town, in but seventeen days‡ from the mournful event, was the first in Massachusetts, and I believe in the United States, that instituted publick funeral honours on the death of WASHINGTON. There are many who hear me, that can never forget the united sympathies of six hundred and twenty persons, moving§ by a solemn knell, and agonizing peals of cannon to the house of prayer; or the copious tears of a crowded auditory at the recital of his unexampled services for his beloved country. The gazing school-boys, who accompanied us on that occasion, will renew

† The 22d Feb. 4th March, 17th June and 4th July, have often been celebrated by the different political sects; and the 24th June by the Free-Masons.

‡ Dec. 31, 1799.

§ The procession consisted of the male inhabitants, from seven years of age and upwards; the Magistrates, Town, Church and Parish officers, instructors of the schools, the lodge of Free-Masons, and the Military, consisting of three companies in uniform. The stores and shops were shut; the flags on the vessels and on shore were displayed half staff high, and minute guns were fired from Breed's hill. The meeting house was shrowded in black, and an appropriate discourse from Deuteronomy xxxiv. 5, 7, 8. was delivered by Rev. Dr. MORSE, which, with all the proceedings, were published by the town for the use of the inhabitants.

The 22d of February, 1800, being set apart by the Congress of the United States, was suitably noticed by the town. A procession was formed similar to the above, and an Oration delivered by the author of this history, which was published at the request of the selectmen and parish committee.

their tender emotions, when they tell the melancholy story to their listening children, and the records of the town will transmit to future ages, a most honourable testimony of our esteem and veneration.

By this cursory retrospect of thirty seven years, from the rebuilding of the town, we may discover the beneficial effects of industry and perseverance. Our commerce, ship building, and other mechanick arts have generally been successful; our manufactures, which in some branches are extensive, particularly of morocco leather, cordage, bricks, candles, soap of various kinds, the distillery of molasses, and the brewing of malt liquors; with the extensive butcheries, tan yards, and packing large quantities of provisions for foreign markets, afford, in prosperous times, a productive income to the different proprietors, and a handsome support to various classes of our fellow citizens.

Our pleasant, healthful and commodious situation, is frequently a subject of conversation, with occasional visitors. The events of the revolutionary war; the Navy Yard* located in 1800, and now in active operation, by the building of a seventy-four gun ship, and the fitting of other vessels of war; the Middlesex Canal,† opened in 1803, and creating a deposit for wood, lumber and other articles; the Marine Hospital,‡ erected in * The territory comprising the national accommodations, being between 40 and 50 acres, was ceded to the U. States in 1800, by the General Court, who retain no other jurisdiction than to prevent a refuge against breaches of our statutes committed without its limits. The persons residing there are subject to no taxes, nor the performance of municipal duties; and it is considered as settled by the Judiciary, that they are not entitled to the ordinary rights and privileges of our citizens. The land appropriated, was valued by a Jury at 37,280 dollars. A part of it is used for the Marine Hospital, and a part by the Military department, which is accommodated with stores, a magazine and barracks. The Navy department is furnished with an elegant dwelling house, extensive brick buildings for stores, lofts, &c. a spacious wharf, batteries, and other conveniences, which are nearly completed. The principal officer is Commodore William Bainbridge.

Brig. Gen. Thomas H. Cushing of the U. S. army, quarters here. There is also, a house used as a military hospital, of which Benjamin Waterhouse, M. D. is surgeon, and about 300 soldiers, most of whom are prisoners on parole.

† This Canal, which affords a water communication from Boston to Merrimack river, terminates on the peninsula at Charlestown. For a particular description of this immense undertaking, see Morse's Universal Geography, fourth edition. Vol. I. p. 348. The President is Aaron Dexter, Esq.

‡ The Marine Hospital of the United States is 100 feet by 40, two stories high, and a basement; it is accommodated with kitchens, a spacious hall, and nineteen rooms, with a garden. The average number of patients is stated at 30. It is controlled by the Collector of the Customs, and conducted by an overseer or steward, under the direction of the surgeon, who is David Townsend, M. D.

1803, for the accommodation of sick and disabled seamen; and the State Prison* built in 1805, for the punishment, employment and reformation of convicts, have given us publicity; and we cherish a belief, that these important circumstances and establishments, will be so estimated and conducted, as to answer the publick expectations, and promote the happiness of the town.

On political occurrences I shall remark generally, that during our connexion with Great Britain, we enjoyed the customary privileges; a due proportion of the inhabitants were appointed to important offices; there was a regular compliance with the requirements of government, and a cheerful support of the publick burthens. But we participated fully in the effects of the stamp act in 1765, the revenue bill in 1768, the port bill in 1774, and of other tokens of ministerial impolicy. In proof of our patriotism it may be observed, that at the commencement of serious opposition† to parliamentary measures, WE UNITED, as I hope we ever shall, to resist oppression, and that but a single inhabitant,‡ sought protection from the parent country, whilst many§ engaged, in various * This Prison is said to be as secure as any in the world. It is 200 feet long, 44 wide and 38 high, containing 90 cells for convicts, with kitchens, convenient rooms for officers, and guards, a chapel, hospital, store, work shops, and bathing place. The yard, in which is a garden, is encompassed with a stone wall, 375 by 260, and 15 feet high, on which the guards are stationed. The number of convicts admitted from Dec. 1805, to the time of this address, is 640, of whom 296 have been discharged, 80 pardoned, 9 escaped, 22 died, 1 shot, and 232 remain. The visitors are the Supreme Executive of the Commonwealth, and the Supreme Judicial Court. The directors are James Princee, James T. Austin, and Caleb Bingham, Esq's.; the warden is Capt. Gamaliel Bradford; and the physician is Josiah Bartlett, M. D.

† E. N. a respectable citizen of this town, lately deceased at the age of 78, has repeatedly mentioned to the writer, that he was among the Indians, who destroyed the tea at Boston in 1774.

§ At the commencement of hostilities, a company of our inhabitants was raised and served eight months. It was in the battle on Breed's hill. The officers were *Capt. Josiah Harris, *Lieut. Bartholomew Trow, Ensign Thomas Miller, Sergeants, James Berry, Timothy Thompson, *Samuel Moore and Francis Greene.

The citizens of this town, who held appointments in the army, and served for different periods, were,—In the line, Captains *Benjamin Frothingham, *Eliphalet Newell, and *William Harris. In the medical department, Doctors *Isaac Rand, who attended small pox patients, *Isaac Foster, an hospital surgeon, and afterward a deputy director general, Thomas Welsh, a regimental surgeon, and Josiah Bartlett, a hospital mate, and afterward surgeon. stations in the revolutionary army, and some continued until the termination of the contest.

During the confederation of the United States, and the first administration of the federal government, we were tolerably united in principles and conduct; but a question on the adoption of the British treaty in 1795, revived our prejudices; and the commotions of Europe, aided perhaps by that spirit of rivalry which is inseparable from the human character, excited in our citizens, those unhappy divisions, which paralyze the energies of our country, and threaten us with the most serious calamities. May we all cultivate union, candour, moderation, and forbearance; and let us remember, that by a noble support of a free constitution, ancient Rome was elevated to happiness and glory; but by innovations and animosities, she fell from her exalted rank to infamy and slavery.

If we except the years 1809 and 1812 (when a union ticket prevailed) the affairs of the town have for a long period been exclusively administered* by those, who espouse the present measures of our national government; but it is pleasing to reflect, that political dissensions have not destroyed our social intercourse, our mutual charities, or the personal confidence of our citizens in each other.

From the adoption of the constitution in 1780, we chose but one representative annually to the General Court, until 1803, when we elected two; in 1804 three; in 1805 four; and in 1806 five, which number has been continued to the last election, when by an equality of suffrages, for the different candidates, and an unintentional error in declaring the choice, the seats of four were vacated, and we are again reduced to a single member,† on whom the responsibility devolves, at this most important crisis.

We have usually furnished a senator for the district of Middlesex, and repeatedly a member of the supreme executive.* One of our respected inhabitants, who served in various offices, was, for many years, the commissary general† of this commonwealth. We were also honoured with a president of congress under the confederation; who was afterward a member of that august assembly that formed the constitution of the United States, and of the convention of this State that ratified it.‡

This town enjoyed the residence, and here are deposited the ashes of the most distinguished benefactor§ of Thompson, and David Devens; Peter Tufts, jun. John Kettell, and William Austin, Esqrs. Elected for 1814—Joseph Hurd and John Soley, Esqrs. and Mr. Joseph Tufts, who do not espouse the measures of the national government.

* The inhabitants, who have served as senators, under the present constitution, are *Hon. Nathaniel Gorham, Josiah Bartlett, Matthew Bridge, and Samuel Dana. As members of the council, *Hon. Nathaniel Gorham, Josiah Bartlett, and Artemas Ward.

† Richard Devens, Esq. who died in 1807, aged 86. "From a native strength of mind, quick discernment, and commendable industry, he was qualified for distinguished usefulness. He sustained at different periods the most important town offices; was a magistrate and legislator; and bequeathed a large sum for charitable purposes." For a particular delineation of his character, see Panoplist, vol. III. p. 239.

‡ Hon. Nathaniel Gorham, who died in 1796, aged 58. Having served in various town offices, he was chosen representative in 1771, and from that period was seldom disengaged from publick employments. He was Speaker of the House; a Judge of the county Court, and, at the time of his death, supervisor of the national revenue for the district of Massachusetts. In testimony of his merits and important services, and in compliance with a vote of the town, an eulogy on his character was delivered, June 11, 1796, by Thomas Welsh, M. D. and is published.

§ John Harvard died in 1638. All that can be ascertained of this gentleman is, that he had been a minister in England, and died soon after his arrival in this country; that he preached a short time in this town, and bequeathed about eight hundred pounds to the College. The writer has repeatedly searched for his grave, but could discover nothing to designate it.

The following inhabitants of Charlestown (including exiles by the war in 1775) received degrees at Harvard College, and their names are copied from the Catalogue. For information on this subject before the memory of the writer, he is indebted to the politeness of the Hon. William Winthrop, of Cambridge, who is a descendant of the fifth generation from Governour Winthrop.

Those, who are not marked as dead, and have no place of residence annexed, are now inhabitants of the town.

Our military arrangements have generally been respectable. As early as 1630, a lot of land was designated as a training field, and has been continued by that name, and for that use, to this time. Our present military force are three companies of militia, all of which are well officered and provided; an artillery company formed in 1786, and two companies of light infantry in 1804. These are so completely equipped and disciplined, as to sustain an equal rank with any in the commonwealth. We have now a brigadier general, three field officers,

There are many ancient epitaphs on the burying hill, most of which are not legible. The following have been copied with difficulty, and may serve as a specimen of the taste of our forefathers.

"Here lieth the body of Mr. John Greene, born at London, in Old England, who married Perseverance the daughter of ——— Johnson in Amsterdam, by whom he had six children; with whom and three children he came to Charlestown, in New-England, in 1632, was ruling elder of the church, and deceased April 22, 1658, aged 65, leaving behind two sons and one daughter, viz. John, Jacob, and Mary, who erected this monument to the memory of him and his wife, their father and mother."

"Here lies interred the body of Richard Russell, Esq. who served his country as treasurer, more than a treble prentiship, and as a magistrate sixteen years; who departed this life the 14th of May, 1676, being the 65th year of his age.

A saint, a husband, and a faithful brother,
A friend, scarce equalled by any other,
A saint, that walked high in either way,
In godliness and honesty all say.
A husband rare to both his darling wives,
To her deceas'd, to her who him survives.
A father politick, and husband kind,
Unto our state in treasureship we find.
Of fathers good, as best to own to those,
On him a fathership law did impose,
A Moses brother kind, good Aaron lov'd,
On whom love showers, full of strength improve,
A friend to needy poor, whom he refresh'd,
The poor may well lament their friend suppress'd,
In time of war he was removed in peace,
From sin and woes to glory, by his decease."

I copied the above from the original stone in 1787, and it was replaced by the descendants at that time on a tablet of soft free stone, which is not proper for such uses, as the inscription is now almost effaced.

"Here lies the body of John Phillips, Esq. who departed this life March 20, 1725, ætatis suæ 94, who served in divers posts; was some time judge of the admiralty, and treasurer of the province; as colonel and chief officer of the regiment ab anno 1689 ad annum 1715; as one of the justices of the Inferior Court of Common Pleas, and one of his majesty's council, ab anno 1689 ad annum 1716, successively."

The tomb stone of Capt. Richard Sprague (one of the first comers from Salem) is to be seen: but the whole inscription is not legible.

An Act to incorporate sundry persons in Charlestown, in the county of Middlesex, by the name of the Washington Hall Association.

SECT. 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Court assembled, and by the authority of the same, That Joseph Hurd, Josiah Bartlett, David Stetson, Timothy Walker, and Benjamin Swift, with such others as have associated, and purchased a lot of land, bounded thirty feet on the main street, in said Charlestown, running back one hundred and fifty feet, and are erecting a building thereon by the name of Washington Hall, for offices,

We now solemnly and joyfully dedicate it to the memory of that ILLUSTRIOUS, UNEQUALLED PATRIOT whose name it bears. Here we may venerate his virtues, cultivate his principles, and practise by his example. Within these walls may our successors manfully support the doctrines of rational liberty; and when an hundred and eighty five years, the period we have so imperfectly reviewed, shall again have expired, may they recognize the efforts of the present era, as we now celebrate the exertions of those who have passed before us to the regions of immortality.

Establishments for preparing spirit of turpentine and lamp black, and for a brewery, were not valued.

There have been, an extensive distillery erected, two tan yards completed, a factory for preparations of vitriol established, and salt petre works commenced, since the census was taken; but it is the opinion of competent judges, that the manufactory of bricks, chaises, cordage, morocco leather, plated ware, and cabinet work, has greatly lessened since that period.

The SCHOOLS are in a state of great prosperity; as will be shewn by the following extract from a report of the trustees to the town, May 2, 1814.

"At the late examinations, we found the schools under the most perfect government, and in the highest state of improvement; we cannot refrain from congratulating our fellow-citizens on a situation of their publick schools, so auspicious to the best interests of the town, so gratifying to the dearest hopes of parents, and bearing such honourable testimony to the eminent ability and fidelity of the instructors."

On the acceptance of the report, the town voted one thousand dollars in addition to the usual annual appropriation, for the education of young children; in consequence of which, twenty one districts are established, and to each a schoolmistress is appointed, for the instruction of those, from four to seven years of age, the whole number of whom is four hundred and twenty five; the scholars of both sexes, in the other schools, from seven to fourteen years of age, are seven hundred and seventeen; which makes the whole number, instructed at the expense of the town, eleven hundred and forty two.

A publick support of schools, kept by women, for primary instruction, and free to every inhabitant, under the direction of the trustees, though novel, is honourable to the town, and affords a pleasing presage of future improvement.
